FROM THE DEADLY EAST GERMAN BORDER
INTO NATIONAL PARKS:
LIFE RETURNS AND DEFIES ALL BORDERS!

Throughout history, borders have always represented civilization's most problematic issues, and there have been deadly borders, such as the one between East Germany and West Germany complete with countless mines, barbed wire fences, watch towers, and guards. Numerous people died trying to cross this no man's land between the two countries. In 1989, unification opened the border. The land was cleared and left to itself, and over time, nature reclaimed and transformed what was once a long death strip into a green zone of national parks. This program is sponsored by the Arizona Humanities Council.
